As the agreement of the Cashier Contractor came to an end on 18th October 1955 and he was no longer responsible for the acts or omissions of the complainant he (complainant) was made to execute agreement Exh. M/10 in favour of the Bank and one Mr. Abdul Hafiz stood surety for him. In this agreement, the various kinds of duties and liabilities of the complainant are specified. It does not fix any period of his service but only provides in its para. 17(b) that the service would be liable to terminate on one month's notice on either side or one month's salary in lieu thereof. The complainant was expected to deposit Rs. 1,000 by way of security out of which he deposited Rs. 700 at the time of the agreement and promised to make good the balance by deduction of Rs. 10 a month in future out of his salary.

9. When the second period of complainant's temporary service came to an end, he was given on 16th November 1955 another letter of appointment stating that his period of appointment had been extended by another 3 months with effect from that date under the terms and conditions specified in letter dated 12th May 1955 appointing him as a temporary assistant. Exh. M/4 is a copy of the letter which was given to the complainant with his endorsement as to the receipt of the original.

10. On 14th January 1956 the Manager of the Branch in accordance with the terms of para. 17(b) of the agreement Exh. M/10 served on the applicant one month's notice with a view to terminate his service with effect from 16th February 1956. Exh. M/6 is a copy of the same bearing an endorsement of the complainant as to the receipt of its original. The complainant was made to retire from service on 15th February 1956.

11. After the receipt of the notice terminating his service but before its actual termination, the complainant made an appeal to the Assistant Secretary (Staff) of the Bank on 9th February 1956 with a prayer for orders of his confirmation on the grounds that he had served the bank quite satisfactorily for a long period and was qualified for permanent appointment in the service of the Bank. Ex. W/1 is a copy of the memorandum of appeal. It is very significant that in para. 20 of that document reads thus 'that I have not the least doubt that my services are of temporary nature. My hopes will be dashed to the ground if my representation is not favourably considered'. The appeal proved infructuous.

12. Due to the pendency of proceedings before it in respect of an industrial dispute between the bank and its workmen, the complainant made the present complaint in this Tribunal on 30th April 1956 under Section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act with a prayer for a direction to the Bank to reinstate and confirm him in its service with retrospective effect from due date.

13. His allegations are (a) that the bank was not competent to terminate his services without the written permission of the Tribunal as required by Section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act, (b) that he was in every way qualified for confirmation in its service and (c) that the act of the bank's management in arbitrarily refusing him to work was against the spirit of the Bank Award.

14. The Bank opposed the application on the grounds that the complainant's service was only temporary and that it was terminated in accordance with the terms of his appointment. It also raised a preliminary objection that as the complainant was not 'a workman concerned' as contemplated by Section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act, the present complaint is incompetent.

15. Let us first take up the preliminary objection raised by the Bank. In 1951 an arrangement was arrived at between the Bharat Bank Limited and the Punjab National Bank Limited by which certain assets and liabilities and the banking business of the former was taken up by the latter. In consequence of that arrangement certain employees of the former bank were taken up by the latter bank in its service after making them resign their services in the former bank, while the remaining employees of the Bharat Bank were retrenched by that bank.

16. The point at issue in the main dispute for adjudication in this Tribunal is 'the absorption of the Bharat Bank employees in the Punjab National Bank and their service conditions'. Now in case it were decided by the Tribunal that all the employees of the Bharat Bank were to be absorbed in the Punjab National Bank, the question of seniority affecting him would arise if the petitioner were held to be a permanent employee of the bank as contended by him. The result, therefore, is that the preliminary objection does not carry much force with the result that it is disallowed.

17. As regards the merits of the case, the petitioner's allegation that letters relating to the extension of his service of which Exh. M/3 and Exh. M/4 are the copies were given to him at one and the same time along with one month's notice terminating his service with effect from 18th February, 1956 of which Exh. M/6 is a copy is obviously false. Exh. M/3 and Exh. M/4 bear his endorsements with the dates on which he received the originals. This objection was not even raised by him in his appeal to the Assistant Secretary (Staff) of the Bank, nor in his complaint.

18. The contention of the complainant's representative that his service became permanent by the execution of agreement Exh. M/10 carries no force. There is no mention in it as to the complainant's entering the permanent service of the Bank. It was got executed from him simply because he was still to work in the Cash Department and the Cashier Contractor had ceased to be responsible for his acts and omissions.

19. It is also very significant that in para. 20 of his appeal to the Assistant Secretary (Staff) of the Bank he clearly admitted that his service was purely temporary. His statement that he did not understand the import of his allegation is obviously without any weight.

20. For the above reasons it is held that the complainant was only a temporary employee of the bank for a certain period and that his services were duly dispensed with by the bank after due service of notice upon him. An award is, therefore, made in accordance with that finding.

In the circumstances of the present case, the parties are directed to bear their own costs.
